

Curtis Lancaster, MHA, CMRP

AHRMM BOARD MEMBER CANDIDATE 2021

Vice President, System Supply Chain
Dartmouth-Hitchcock Health

The Right Candidate at the Right Time

The future of the healthcare supply chain depends not only upon our ability to flex with market conditions but to also predict them. Recent revelations caused by the COVID-19 pandemic have forced us all to adapt to market uncertainty, but they have also revealed our collective areas of strength. Teamwork and trust are critical factors that have proven to be key to our success. I've built successful teams that are inclusive, diverse, collaborative, and most of all, productive. I will help organizations prioritize skill development strategies to empower their teams now and in the future.

"Curtis is a forward thinker and is doing cutting edge Supply Chain initiatives. He is known for sharing and helping others in New England. He is exactly the type of leader we need on the board of AHRMM. He is primed to contribute to our industry in a much larger way."

-Terry K. Cox, Consultant, Lieutenant Colonel, US Army Medical Dept., FAHRMM, CMRP
AHRMM Board Member 1999-2001

Point of View

I want to connect the disconnected.

- I will focus on increasing engagement and connection throughout the organization, regardless of geographical distance between AHRMM members.
- Health systems in non-urban and rural settings can feel overshadowed by their larger urban counterparts.
- My attention will be on a strategy focused on people, based on inclusion and membership growth.

I want to build today the skills we need tomorrow.

- My passion and energy will focus on developing innovative solutions to meet demands.
- We are in an ever-changing and dynamic marketplace that demands a new skillset to succeed.
- I can make a difference by designing programs to upgrade and expand that skillset.
- We must capitalize on current Supply Chain conversations to enhance our seat at the leadership table.
- All eyes are on healthcare supply chains and we will deliver and succeed together.
